Leaped Into Eternity.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
NEW YORK, May 19.—This afternoon a cab left the New York entrance of the Brooklyn bridge and was driven to the middle of the great span. Here the driver pulled up and the two men got out and began to climb the railing. Before they had reached the top a bridge policeman came running toward them brandishing his club and ordered them to "get down out of that." While he was talking with the young men, a covered wagon containing Prof. Robert E. Ollum and a companion stopped about a hundred feet behind the cab. Quickly directing himself of the blue flannel suit in which he was dressed, Prof. Ollum, clad in a red shirt and trousers jumped from the carriage and sprang lightly to the railing. He quickly reached the top and passing himself for a moment he stood erect and glanced hurriedly at the surface of East river around him. The people on the bridge yelled a cry of horror when they saw the professor prepare to plunge off the bridge into the river, 135 feet below.

The policeman, whose attention had now been directed from Ollum, rushed toward the professor. Before he had gone a dozen feet Professor Ollum, without a moment's hesitation, sprang off the railing into the air. He held one hand above his head as a rudder to guide himself in his descent. The river below was at the moment clear of shipping. A tug and a schooner floated lazily in the stream a hundred yards below the bridge. The tug was filled with reporters and clubmen. Boynton stood near the prow anxiously watching the bridge. The moment Professor Ollum's body was seen to leave the railing, Harry E. Dwyer, the actor, started a stopwatch which he held in his hand in order to time the descent. For four hundred feet the professor came down all right, feet foremost. He shot downward with the speed of a meteor, his red suit making him easily discernable from a long distance. When within thirty feet of the water his body began to turn. As if realizing his danger Prof. Ollum brought down his hand with a warlike motion to aid him in recovering his balance. The movement was, however, made too late. His body had now turned so far that it was impossible to change its course. Half a second later, with a mighty splash that threw up the water on all sides as if torn with a shell, Professor Ollum's body struck the water on one side and went out of sight. The tug hurriedly pushed itself forward to the place where the body fell and Captain Boynton, seeing that life preservers had been thrown out into the water, sprang over the side of the boat and waited for the body to come to the surface. At once the white face of the professor was seen rising from the water, and a moment later he was by his side. Seizing a life preserver boat by he placed it beneath the body of the unconscious professor. Blood mingled with froth came from the mouth of the daring man. A row boat came to the rescue, and Professor Ollum was taken from the water a few moments later. He was transferred to the tug and restoratives were administered. After considerable rubbing, the eyes of the professor opened. "What kind of a jump did I make," he whispered.

"First-class, my boy," responded Boynton. "You'll be all right in a little while." But he was insensible again before the words had hardly left his lips. The tug steamed hastily to her ship and just as the pier was reached a shudder passed through the frame of the professor and then after breathing heavily once or twice his heart stopped beating and he was pronounced dead.

The body was taken ashore and conveyed to the undertakers. Prof. Robert E. Ollum was formerly the professor of a swimming bath in Washington, but lately has been in a clerk in the Willard hotel. It has been his ambition to jump from the Brooklyn bridge.

He made the attempt once before the bridge was completed, but was prevented from carrying out his scheme by the police. He was 31 seconds in the air before striking the water. He was unmarried, 33 years of age, and a man of good habits.

River.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
NEW YORK, May 20.—At 3 o'clock this morning a Frenchman, Louis Francis, of 307 Fifth avenue, was arrested while on his way to the North river, bearing in his back a bag containing the mutilated corpse of a woman who had been murdered. Francis bore the remains to the police station, where he was placed under arrest. He said that his wife had died at their home and he was simply depositing the corpse in the river on account of his inability to give it a Christian burial.

THE MURDER.

The woman was not Francis' wife, she was Selma Fehat, thirty-eight years old. Three months ago the couple moved into the apartments where the crime was committed. Both drank very freely, the man to excess. They quarreled frequently. Two weeks ago he beat and kicked her while she was on the floor. About the neck of the dead body was twisted a silk handkerchief, and about the throat were marks of discoloration and marks of finger nails. It was evident she had been strangled to death by twisting the handkerchief about her throat.

Telephone and Telegraph.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
BOSTON, May 20.—An investigation by a legislative committee shows the cost to the Bell company of each instrument is $3.43; the average annual rental is $14—more than five times its cost. The net earnings of the Bell company for the year ending March 1, 1885, were $1,729,293, and the company, according to the statement of its officers to the committee, could have paid a 17 per cent. dividend on its present stock. The company now owns 329,226 telephones, of which 32,442 are in Massachusetts. The total receipts for rentals for the year ending March 1, amounted to $1,969,442.74. The company has received in dividends on stock in sub-companies which it owns $1,021,730.26.

SENATORSHIP, Ill., May 20.—A bill passed the senate yesterday to tax telephone corporations doing business in this state 3 per cent. of their gross receipts in the state.

The bill to limit the charges for telephones to $3 per month, and to $2.50 when more than one is used by the same renter, passed the senate almost unanimously.

A SPIRITED PAPER.

Councilman J. W. Vordermark
Defends Himself.

To the Citizens of Fort Wayne.
I deeply regret that any controversy should have occurred in relation to the counting of votes in the council at its last session. Report and rumors of all kinds have been spread broadcast affecting the integrity of Mr. A. Wolf and myself, who acted as tellers upon that occasion. Affidavits have been filed by councilmen stating how they voted for police commissioners and city civil engineer. Now, I do not in any way desire to cast any reflections upon these gentlemen or question their integrity. They undoubtedly honestly intended to cast their votes as they had made their promises, but as they say that they are infallible and not liable to make mistakes, and that the tellers alone made mistakes. The best of men are liable to make mistakes. His honor, the mayor, appointed Mr. A. Wolf and myself as tellers for the reason, as he stated, that we were old members of the council. Mr. Wolf collected the ballots upon one side of the council chamber and I upon the other, carried them to the desk where Mr. Wolf opened them, handed them to me and I called them off. It was done rapidly and unintentional mistakes might have occurred, as for instance, during one ballot for city civil engineer, Harding ballots were being called out rapidly and the name becoming fixed in my mind I inadvertently called a ballot for Mr. Harding when Mr. Wolf called out, hold on, that's a Goshorn ballot, so you see he discovered one unintentional mistake. It is a well known fact that councilmen have many friends among the candidates for the various offices to be filled and they make many promises, relying on their ability to cast a secret ballot and thus leave all their friends under the impression they had surely voted for them while in fact they had voted directly opposite. A great deal of fingerling of ballots was done by the councilman, generally such as taking up two tickets in the hand and dropping one in the hat, so as to mislead the friends of candidates who were closely watching the balloting. Now, I ask my fellow colleagues to pause and calmly reflect and not to be influenced by outside pressure. In courts the accused always has the benefit of a doubt. I was born and raised here and have been in business almost twenty-nine years, with the exception of three years service in the army, and I can proudly say there is not a citizen in this city who knows me that can point to a single stain on my character and I have never heard aught against the honesty and integrity of Mr. A. Wolf, although being like myself a positive man in his opinions he has made many bitter enemies. I have served seven years in the city council, have always attended to my duties honestly and conscientiously and during my whole life have always endeavored to keep my conscience clear. An unfortunate phase of this affair is that the ballots voted were on the following morning gathered in a basket, together with all the ballots remaining on the council desks by a deputy city marshal, thus destroying this means of verifying the affidavits they made, and which makes them simply ex parte testimony to be offset by our testimony and affidavits. This would indicate that in the future the council should order all the ballots placed on a string and kept for sixty days in order for a re-count if it became necessary. Now, fellow citizens, I ask you candidly and sincerely what motive could there have been in falsifying returns. The office of police commissioner is not one of any great honor and certainly no salary to it. Mr. John Mohr and myself have for years been warm friends and every councilman knows that Mr. Wolf and myself have not been friendly for three years past, although I voted for Mr. Wolf on the first ballot because I knew him to be fearless in the discharge of his duties and always on hand to attend to them. In regard to city civil engineer Mr. Wolf and Mr. Michaels wanted to have the council advertise for one from some other point, not being altogether satisfied with any of the candidates here. I wanted the most competent man among the democrats. So long as I am a democrat in principle I believe in voting for democrats for office provided they are competent. Mr. Goshorn and myself were not personal friends, but in his case I sacrificed my personal feelings for what I deemed the city's good. It is a well known fact that about two years ago J. S. Goshorn was a candidate for city civil engineer and reasoned that he should have my support for that office, partly because he lived in the Eighth ward. I warmly espoused the cause of J. R. Stranghn for the office and he was elected. Since that time Mr. Goshorn ran against me for councilman of the Eighth ward thus serving to still further sever our friendship, so that I could have no earthly reason to even try to count him in. Mr. Harding would have been elected on the first ballot—as he had ten votes—but unfortunately one of his ballots was a double one and his honor declared it to be no ballot and ordered another ballot taken. Thousands of names have been vigorously circulating all manner of statements, and it thus becomes necessary for me to make this formal statement of facts in justice to my friends who have stood by me, and to my constituents of the Eighth ward who have so signally honored me by electing me to the office of councilman for four consecutive terms.

In conclusion, fellow citizens, if it can be demonstrated that a mistake occurred in the balloting, I am ready and willing Mr. Wolf to proceed to rectify it.

Respectfully,
JOHN W. VORDERMARK.

The special council committee met last night in the parlors of the Hamilton National bank and heard the testimony of City Clerk Rockhill and Councilman A. Wolf. Councilman Vordermark did not testify, but wanted to be represented by attorneys. The committee would not allow that and will report to the council to-night the result of their consultation.

WINNIPEG, May 20.—A Battleford dispatch says: "The situation here to-day took on a precarious change. Poundmaker's Indians, evidently encouraged by the capture of the supply train and by the quietude of Otter's troops, came closer to the barracks. It is supposed that over two hundred Indians were riding about in the vicinity. They set the prairie on fire in several places, not far from town and the barracks. Their actions gave rise to the fear of an attack to-night and steps were immediately taken to meet it. Forces were immediately gathered in and around the barracks and the town put in a position for defense. The private Canadian wire has been out of order and it is likely that nothing will come through till very late."

March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dizziness, languor, and lassitude, effort almost the entire human faculty, and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and exhaustion from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.
"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SARGENT, Kent, O.
"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLER, Boston, Mass.

Fort Wayne Paint and Color Works,

No. 12 West Columbia Street Fort Wayne, Indiana.

To Painters

And others wanting First-class Paints: Do you know that you have in Fort Wayne a Manufacturer of Mixed Paint and Grinders of Colors, where you can buy your Paints from first hand instead of paying the middle man his profits, which are from 25 to 30 per cent. O. L. STARKLEY, the Painter and proprietor of the Fort Wayne Paint and Color Works, came to Fort Wayne in April, 1885, and is identified as one of the old citizens who has helped build up Fort Wayne, and his knowledge of Paints and the composition of pigments to form different shades and tints is well-known to the public, and his long practical experience in painting gives him the knowledge of Paints that a mere dealer cannot have for he does not know anything about Paints, as he buys them sealed up and he cannot tell you what it takes to make this or that shade. All he knows is what the label on the can says.
Neither can he tell you shades that will or will not fade. By buying your Paints of O. L. STARKLEY you can get all the information you want. I am making Liquid Paints in all shades and colors; also the same shades and colors in paste form, the same thickness as white lead and requires thinning down the same as white lead. In making the different shades my formulas are all registered giving the amount of each color it takes to form certain shades all thoroughly mixed together in the powder mill, then wet down and run through a mixing machine, and from there to the mills where it is all ground together making a pigment that cannot be made by hand. Call or send and get some of my sample cards of colors and tints; also see elevations of gothic houses colored up with four and five shades, which will give you a good idea how to paint and ornament the outside of your houses.

I say again, do not buy of the middle man if you want to save money. I will guarantee my prices and quality of goods with any manufacturer in the United States.

Oscar Nestel has gone to Jackson, Miss., to bring his brother, Daniel, who was so badly hurt by falling from the third story window of the government building where he was at work, home.
According to a letter received to-day

at all, as he is pained by the least move.

The family of J. P. Gassner bereavement extend their sincere thanks to relatives,
friends, neighbors and the Arion society
for their undivided sympathy and kind assistance tendered in their late sorrow-
